Well, on GAE's page it doesn't say anything specific about JDK7, but I think that's just because the page hasn't been updated in a while. I can tell you that i do infact use JDK 7 with GAE (have done so for months) and everything's fine. Normally the JRE doesn't enter in this equation, as running the GAE locally will still make use of the same JDK you use for dev.
