Gladiator Freezerator, just turned two years old. Top set to fridge, bottom as freezer. Located in basement. Original problem was that unit would make large temp fluctuations. Compressor and both condensor and evap fans were working, but I noticed that defrost heater on inner back wall of upper compartment (set to refrigerator) was very hot and seemed to stay that way for much longer/more ...

I have a 7 yr old Gladiator garageworks freezerator that keeps freezing up on me. I dissassembled it to access the defrost element, and the entire evaporator coil and defrost element were encased in ice. After melting the ice, I removed the defrost bi-metal and checked it's resistance. It appears to be OK, shows open at room temp, and closed after placing it in the freezer for a while.
